FRIDAY, MARCH 27, 1885.

The chances of Mr. Francis will depend very largely on his letter of acceptance.

The American hog is slighted in Germany, but is consoled by the affectionate regard of John Bull.

The Senatorial junketing committees are getting alarmed. The era of retrenchment and reform has set in.

The issue in this city just now is not between Republicans and Democrats; it is between the people and the monopolists.

We shall be very much surprised and very much disappointed if ISAAC M. MARION is not shown to be on the side of the people and opposed to any exclusive privileges in monopolies.

The Post-Dispatch proposes to cast the bright light of publicity on the record of every candidate so fully that every citizen, when he goes to vote, will be able to answer the question, "What are we here for?"

When a Conservative member of Parliament rises in his seat to ask whether the British navy is prepared to occupy the Baltic, it looks as if the Conservative member of Parliament thought that war was imminent.

The Democratic party which is now on top in National affairs has shown itself to be on the side of honesty and retrenchment. If Democracy wishes to get control of local affairs, it must show the same spirit.

What was the idea of sticking PINS in the ticket for the City Council? PINS was put up last fall for Congress, but failed to screw his courage to the sticking point, and did not stand up long enough for O'NEILL to put a head on him.

The reputation of Frenchmen for chivalry and gallantry is not supported by the recent persecution of Miss VAN ZANT in Paris. The idea of able-bodied men banding together and conspiring to insult a woman is something which the American mind fails to grasp.

This is the bluest March the old "wheel-hosses" of a victorious party ever had to face. When they meet in Washington and ask each other "What are we here for?" the answer is silence and gnashing of teeth, until some bleary-eyed brother wants to borrow a V, and then they scatter.

MR. LIZIE FICKLEN, wife of ex-Congressman O. B. FICKLEN, daughter of the former Senator COLQUHOUN of Georgia, and sister of the present Senator COLQUHOUN, has been appointed Postmistress at Charleston, Ill. Blood will tell, and the passion for serving the country in official capacity seems to run in families.

One good result of the Democratic Convention has been the death blow dealt to the illusion regarding the power and prestige of alleged "bosses." For once all of the little bosses were out in their calculations and got off the track. The Convention wiped the floor with them and when adjournment came the poor bosses did not know what had happened to them.

If we remember rightly, Gen. D. P. GRIEN who presided at the Republican Convention yesterday, and who is nominated on the ticket for the City Council, is the gentleman who distinguished himself at the recent Missouri State Republican Convention by a wholesale tirade of abuse against the State whose suffrages the Convention appealed. The only excuse we have heard for his abuse of the State of Missouri was that he had just lost a handsome fortune in gambling in grain on Chicago, but one such exhibition would justify any man in retiring permanently from politics.

The Cardon has the strength of a giant, but must use it with brutal aggressiveness, like a giant of the nursery tales, or lose it. Its founder's will gave it that strength with that curse upon it. It must extend its territory through Turkey to the unfrozen seas, or perish of Khilism. The approach to India is a flank movement to undermine England's power in the Moslem world, with an eye to the ultimate capture of Constantinople. The will of Peter the Great is the religion of Russia, and was between her and England must break out from time to time, as long as there is an English Empire in India and an Ottoman Empire between Russia and the sea.

THE GOVERNOR TO SEND LOGAN to Washington with a Governor's certificate that 100 votes are a majority of the present members elect to the Illinois Legislature, has struck a snag. An obscure Farwell man always manages to a majority of 100. Whether the Senate, Republic or Democrat, it would send LOGAN to 100 votes is uncertain. But whether seated or not, the error could be induced to issue it on even less bring the balloting and the legislative session to an end, and the Senate would then send LOGAN on the Governor's appointment, if not on his certificate. The Farwell men seem to be aware of this, and the end of the deadlock is not yet in sight.

WHAT THE CONTEST MEANS. The people of St. Louis are not called on just now to decide a contest between the Republican and Democratic parties. That contest was decided in the general elections of last November, and decided on the issues pertinent to such a contest. Not one of those issues is involved in our pending municipal election, and to vote in it as if they were is to ignore of evade the distinctly different and gravely important questions of local policy that are to be decided by the successful candidates of this election. In their hands all the powers of the municipal government will be placed for four years, and in that time they may either launch this city on a long career of good government and prosperity or add to her present shackles and burdens and paralyze her enterprise and growth for a generation to come.

It must be plain to every observant citizen that a powerful combination has been formed and a powerful effort is being made to subject both parties and the city of St. Louis to the control of private corporations; to run her municipal government in their interests; to tax her people for their profit; to sacrifice private rights and the general welfare to an exaggerated view of what are called "vested interests," to shut out fair and healthy competition; to shut out new capital and enterprise; to enforce extortion, with corruption for its handmaid, regardless of the general stagnation that must result from such perversion of the powers of government to the service of special interests.

The strength and awe-inspiring prestige of this combination have made themselves felt in the administration of the city, and now they are to be put to the crucial test. The Post-Dispatch merely continues its time-honored policy in insisting that this combination shall not be allowed to rule the city, that candidates shall not be allowed to ask for office when they refuse to give pledges, and that the people shall not be called to vote in the dark for men who do not dare to avow their policy.

A STRONG TICKET. The Republicans have put up a strong ticket. Mayor EWING has made an excellent Mayor. He has fully justified the unusual expression of confidence shown by the vote cast for him four years ago. As none of those who voted for him then have since had any reason to regret their choice, there is no possibility of beating him unless Mr. FRANCIS can give such substantial guarantees and pledges as will make the people feel the same confidence in his promises that they feel justified in bestowing on EWING's record.

The other nominations are unusually good. ANDREWS and FLAD have served the people long and faithfully, and their names are synonyms of integrity and ability. The funds of the city are perfectly safe in the hands of Mr. MERRILL. The Auditor's office has been well filled by Gen. SMITH. Mr. PARKER has presided over the Council with honesty and fairness. Other names are spoken of elsewhere, and the general ticket can well afford to appeal to the public on its merits. The list of names for the Council deserves special treatment.

There is no use in attempting to deny or decry the strength of such a ticket. Any Democrat who thinks that it can be beaten by "sounding the hewg," or by "opening the bookie" is only fit for an insane asylum.

WHY WAS THIS? In the Republican Convention yesterday the following resolutions, presented by Mr. GEORGE F. WENCKEN of the Fourteenth Ward, were received with applause and referred to the Committee on Organization:

Resolved, That the Republican party of St. Louis is opposed to any legislation granting directly or indirectly any exclusive franchise to any corporation authorizing them to use the streets and public highways for the distribution of gas.

Resolved, That it is the duty of our Municipal Assembly, by proper legislation, to secure competition in the sale of gas to our citizens.

Mr. HENRY of the Seventeenth Ward also offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That we are opposed to placing the city or its people at the mercy of any monopoly, old or new, and that no special privileges now claimed should be extended beyond the life of the corporations enjoying them.

The resolutions went into the committee in that shape; they came out as follows:

Resolved, That it is the duty of our Municipal Assembly, by proper legislation, to secure competition in the sale of gas to our citizens.

Why did the committee refuse to accept the other resolutions?

A NUMBER of journals are lauding the action of the Chicago jury that stood out against the sympathy of the community and gave BACCHUS four years in the Penitentiary for killing the man who seduced his young daughter and refused to marry her. The reason given for the verdict by one of the jurymen is especially praised as just and sensible. "While we sympathized with BACCHUS," said he, "and any one of us would probably have done as he did, yet he had broken the law and we thought he ought to be punished." And so a verdict which is at best a compromise between a sworn duty and the sympathy of men who confess that they would have committed the same crime under the same circumstances, is held up as just and sensible. BACCHUS deliberately hunted up and killed his man, and thereafter coolly boasted of the deed and firmly declined to say that he was sorry he had committed murder to avenge his daughter's wrong. This was murder in the first degree—murder coolly plotted, premeditated and perpetrated from motives of revenge, and in meeting out a mild punishment to him the jury showed no regard for the law as it is written, or for the obligation of an oath, than that they would have shown if they had made his punishment merely nominal. And nobody believes that BACCHUS had been a well-to-do and socially influential citizen, instead of a poor laborer, he would have been punished at all. Men of his class and station in life are so little in the habit of killing the seducers of their daughters, that the jury has simply made an example of him to deter such people from doing what is done with impunity all over the Union by men whose more fortunate situation in life is supposed to justify a higher personal and family pride than can be tolerated in poor folks.

MR. EMIL THOMAS is said to own a great deal of his political strength to the fact that while his father is German, his mother is French, his wife is an Irishwoman, and he, himself, is an American, and he is equally popular in Kerry Patch and in Carondelet, on Chicago and in the base-ball field. His resources, however, are eclipsed by those of Mr. HOBBS, who has been railroad river porter, first on the leading Republican paper of St. Louis, and then on the leading Democratic paper, and who has the support of railroad men, river men and newspaper men, irrespective of party; who is the only citizen ever honored by the Fire Department with an honorary membership, and who is considered by every policeman on the force as little less than one of "the finest." As Mr. HOBBS is, moreover, a modest, sensible, honest, popular young gentleman personally, his prospects in the race are unusually good.

MR. BLAIR has shaken off the nightmare premonition of evils from Democratic success which oppressed him and horror-struck his audiences during the campaign. He now says the new Administration bids fair to be so wise and safe that he actually believes the country will survive it. If it has broken the spell which cast such a gloom over Mr. BLAIR's patriotic forecastings, there must be millions of voters experiencing a similar relief from the depressing thought that half the people of this country were conspiring to destroy it, and needed but a few thousand more votes to accomplish their fell purpose.

How Durham Got There. From the Courier-Journal. Judge Durham was at Washington attending to private law business, and meeting some of his friends, including Governor Hewitt of New York, Senator Pendleton and Mr. Carlisle, it was suggested that some objection was secured. Through the Judge is a Kentuckian, this brilliant thought had not suggested itself previously, but upon reflection he was favorably impressed with it. Mr. Hewitt, we believe, pushed the matter a step further by naming the post of First Comptroller of the Currency, a position which had been specially in line with Mr. Durham's committee work while a member of Congress. He determined to act on this advice, and, with the assistance of the gentlemen named and of Hon. B. F. Brewster, a prominent New York lawyer, he wrote a strong letter in his behalf, Judge Durham's public. Meanwhile said Durham had been writing a letter to the Governor, and Judge Durham claims that he is and has always been an advocate of the internal revenue system, and in favor of revenue reform, to both of which, of course, Mr. Randall considers himself the architect.

Marmaduke and Rainwater. From the Springfield Republican. Governor Marmaduke of Missouri is not making a dignified executive. A fortnight since, he and Colonel Rainwater, candidate for Mayor of St. Louis, were firing open letters at each other, and were dividing with the big railroad strike the interest of the Missouri public. Marmaduke said Rainwater had been bribed by a gambling house keeper for $200. Rainwater said, with great uniqueness and vigor, that Marmaduke lied. The affair went so far that a duel was freely predicted. But it resulted in nothing more than a shower of cold lead from a type foundry. Since then Marmaduke has committed the sin of a particularly cold-blooded murderer, and a petition is being signed, asking him to resign the Governorship "that a worthy man may be put in the place." Marmaduke laid the direction of the petition to the Rainwater party and the outside world wonders how there came to be a rainwater party in Missouri.

The Senate. From the San Francisco Chronicle. It is reported that Governor Moody of Oregon, instead of reconvening the Legislature of that State for the purpose of electing a United States Senator, has appointed a new Senator for a chair in Portland. It is doubtful whether the Senate will recognize an appointment made under such circumstances. The precedents are rather against such a course of action. But the discussion which would naturally ensue would prove beneficial, as it would tend to open the eyes of the people to the defects of the present system of electing United States Senators. There is no use in blinding ourselves to the fact that the Senate is rapidly becoming a body of rich men. Unless some change in the method of selection is made, before the nineteenth century is completed it will be impossible for any one not a millionaire or the head of a great corporation to secure a seat in the upper House at Congress.

The Colorado En Route. From the Chicago Herald. In the smoking car of an east-bound Pennsylvania train were a party of Missourians. Each man had a big red bottle in his valise, and each man in turn insisted that everybody else drink with him. These Missourians had secured the San Francisco Art Association and a distillery order upon their clothes.

"Great God!" exclaimed one of the passengers, "how did such an idea get around among you people down in Missouri?"

"Why," the notion that the departments at Washington are big nabrate asylums."

Wm. A. Hobbs. From the Globe-Democrat. For City Register Mr. William A. Hobbs received the nomination in a vote which was highly complimentary to him. Mr. Hobbs makes in this canvass his debut as a politician, but he is already well and favorably known of men. He was born in St. Louis, and has for many years been actively engaged on the press of the city. The Globe-Democrat cheerfully bears witness to his faithfulness and integrity, and doubts whether his character can be successfully impeached by any one who knows him.

MEN OF MARK. JOHN BYRDE, actor, is dying of leprosy in London.

COLONEL ALEX. McCLOSKEY says President Cleveland's favorite dish is oysters.

One of Garfield's sons is president of a base-ball club. It is a part of the duty of the service.

Reports setting out for Blumenthal's court, Mr. Pendleton will provide himself with several samples of the best American hair restoratives.

"EX-SENATOR THOMAS F. GRADY," says the New York Mail and Express, "is seldom seen in public. He is reported to be a severe sufferer from political chills."

A few days ago, who died in Louisville, Ky., a few days ago was a medical director of Sheridan's army corps, and was with General Nelson at the battle of Shiloh.

CARL SCHUBERT, Rollin W. Squire, Hubert C. Thompson and George Gould are said to have formed a company, with $100,000 cash capital, to establish a New York daily newspaper to be named the Morning Telegraph.

KING THOMAS appears to have a head cold all the time. The old gentleman is, however, thankful that it isn't a "cold."

EDWARD KNOX writes from Paris to the Boston Journal that Mr. Stanley probably will be Governor-General of the new Congo State.

MATTHEW ARNOLD was asked to accept the Marston professorship of English literature at Oxford, a post worth $500 a year. He declined, however, not to be free to devote himself to his literary occupations.

MR. JACKSON, the new minister to Mexico, has written several poems. Mr. Jackson, however, in sending his verses to the press, did not append a request for six copies of the paper containing them.

MR. LIVINGSTON of Boston says that out of a case large fortune Wendell Phillips left only $25,000 and that the day before he died he burned a solemn note in notes he held against people, for whom, as he said, his executors might make trouble.

RALPH MEERKE, now in Washington, tells a picker-up of trifles there, that "Ex-Senator Hill has sunk at least $100,000 in newspapers in Colorado. He now owns the Tribune-Republican, and it is a load on his hands. Mr. Hill's income is estimated to be about $100,000 a year from his mining properties."

RED CLOTH has just been provided with a new suit of store clothes, but no mention is made of his having received with it a Waterbury watch. Can it be possible that Washington really made clothing men deal daily with the untutored children of the forest?

His Boston audience complain that when Edwin Booth is called before the curtain he always presents the appearance of a person fresh from a funeral, even when he has been playing Don Cesar de Baza, but then there is something solemn in Edwin's performance even of that character.

"MR. LODGE," as a new York correspondent writes to the Springfield Republican, "has taken great pains with an edition of the writings of Alexander Hamilton which the Putnams are bringing out in New York in eight volumes, but of which only the first has yet appeared. The edition is a small and costly one—limited to 500 copies and sold for $5 a volume—but it will be complete and will contain the pamphlet on the Reynolds scandal in Hamilton's career, which has long been suppressed, so that copies now are very difficult to procure."

WOMEN OF THE WORLD. MRS. MANNING, it is said, bids fair to be the social leader in the Cabinet circle.

MRS. SENATOR ELMORE has sent a $30 check to the Methodist Mission at Ogden, Utah.

MRS. PATTI has been engaged by M. Polini, of Hamburg, to make a tour in Germany.

MISS RANKE, the daughter of Gen. N. P. Banks, is to make her debut in New York on April 6.

MISS CLEVELAND and Mrs. Hoyt, the President's sisters, are reported to be strong Republicans.

It is rumored in Pittsburgh that Mrs. Garfield is to become the wife of a minister well known in Western Pennsylvania.

MRS. NELSON, of Brooklyn, foresaw two funerals at her house. She then died, and her husband dropped dead on the same day.

NEW JERSEY sends wife-beaters to the Penitentiary for one year. It doubtless, however, allows their wives to send them goodies during their imprisonment.

A KANSAS schoolman committed suicide because he couldn't lick the big boys. It would have been better to set the school-house afire and run off and get married.

MISS SPOONER, aged 85; Miss Annie Richardson, aged 83; Miss Marie Richardson, aged 80, and Miss Cornelia Richardson, aged 81 years, are four sisters in Ames Arundel County, Md.

MISS BONDERS of Findlay, Ohio, being very tired one evening recently, yawned her jaw out of joint. When Mrs. Bonders recovers she will not go to church any more in the evening.

FANNY TINKLE-BE-ET, of the Sandwich Islands, eats the tenderest of her unweaned suitors. A good-looking Princess in that country ought to keep herself well supplied with tenderloin steaks—St. Louis Times.

The Buffalo Advertiser believes that two dozen oysters are enough for any lady to eat for an evening lunch, especially if cake and beer go with them. We are glad to learn that there is nothing pigish about a Buffalo lady.

MR. KEELY, who is 70 years old, and Mrs. Stirling will speak a dialogue at the Criterion Theatre in London, on the occasion of a benefit for a charitable society. It is forty-two years since both performed together with Macready.

The courts of France hold that it is a libel to overstate a lady's age, and that a wife's French maid bows and kicks and smiles and asks a woman if she won't be glad when her school days are over—(Quincy) Republican.

The young ladies of the Ontario Ladies' College have organized two base-ball clubs. When the ladies are admitted to Yale and Harvard we may look for female foot-ball teams and lady rowing crews. The higher education is the thing after all.

MISS BERTHA VON HILKES, who was a professional pedagogue, and is now an artist in the landscape business, must be forgetting herself. Not more than two marked papers a week are received from her containing personal mention of her genius and labor.

MISS E. B. CHOCKER, sister-in-law of Charles Crocker, president of the Southern Pacific Railway, has informed the San Francisco Art Association that she will do an art gallery and her collection of paintings to the city, provided the people raise $100,000 in four months for the maintenance of the gallery.

THE METROPOLITAN PRESS. What the Editors of the New York Journals are Saying Today. New York, March 27.—The World says: "The railroad corporations appear to have experienced a new birth since the change made by the people in the political character of the Administration. First, we had the Vanderbilt corporation cutting down its dividend and admitting that the 8 per cent. it had been paying for years had not been earned. Then we had Jay Gould and Russell Sage 'disgrace' from the Union Pacific railway. Now, we have St. Paul reducing its common stock dividend from 1 per cent. to 3 per cent. in the face of the fact that the stockholders must not expect in the future such dividends as they have had in the past, and Jay Gould has turned from his pleasure hunting, expressing himself in favor of reduced salaries."

The Sun says: "Last night several members of the corps, even up to the august person of the Corps Commander, were called up before the grim of death and made to show how well posted he was in the history of the corps. The result was that the corps commander was the only one who was not called up. The result was that the corps commander was the only one who was not called up."

The Times says: "The theory that the Canadians have conciliated their Indian subjects has received its final blow from the fact that the Indians of the Northwest are expected to join forces with the Sioux. As we have intimated, complete an attitude analogous at once to that of the Mahdi, and of the late Oklahoma Payne. His feeling toward the Canadians is very much that of the Mahdi about the Egyptians, while his attitude toward the Indians is that of the Mahdi about the Egyptians.

The Tribune says: "It was natural that Secretary Lammie, the defender of Jacob Thompson, and a successful traitor to this country, but it was unwise in him to do so. The people of the North have not yet forgotten the iniquitous course of Abraham Lincoln. Yet, this is the man who was Secretary of the Interior under Mr. Buchanan.
